And even those we et invited to we often struggle with the social expectations at the party. So...this class of education professionals set out to plan a birthday party for our kids to help our kids learn the process as well as have a blast!

There will be food

There will be many fun activities including face painting, an inflatable bounce house, pin the tail on the whale, a scavenger hunt, cake walk, relay race. This is an AUTISM FRIENDLY event so don't worry if your kids don't know how to play...there will be a room full of educators there to teach them!
