

Premiering this coming July It's Our School, Too!

Written by Suzy Messerole & Aamera Siddiqui

A world premiere play debuting at the 2010 Special Olympics USA National Games

Commissioned by Special Olympics Project UNIFY and based on interviews with youth, It's Our School, Too! explores the current realities for high school youth with intellectual disabilities. Told with honesty and humor, the play examines the barriers to participation faced by youth, as well as the world of possibilities when youth with and without disabilities come together to create meaningful school change.

Performances:

7:00pm on July 19 & 20
Strauss Performing Arts Center (UNO)

It's Our School, Too! is written by Suzy Messerole & Aamera Siddiqui, co-Artistic Directors of Exposed Brick Theatre in Minneapolis, MN, and directed by Suzy Messerole. Suzy has worked as a director, playwright and teaching artist at many theatres in the Minneapolis/St. Paul area – including History Theatre, Guthrie Theatre, and Children's Theatre Company, as well as teaching youth and adults with disabilities with Upstream Arts.

Special Olympics

Be a fan.

Special Olympics
USA NATIONAL GAMES • NEBRASKA

PAGE 8

National Youth Activation Summit
July 18-23, 2010

